Always at your service: 0161 286 5050

Our primary objective is to provide a seamless level of customer service, from sales enquiry to order placement and into full after-sales support. Whatever your request, our dedicated technical and customer care teams ensure you receive a fast response. For more complex applications and with in-depth knowledge of their particular field, our Product and Industry Specialists are always on hand.

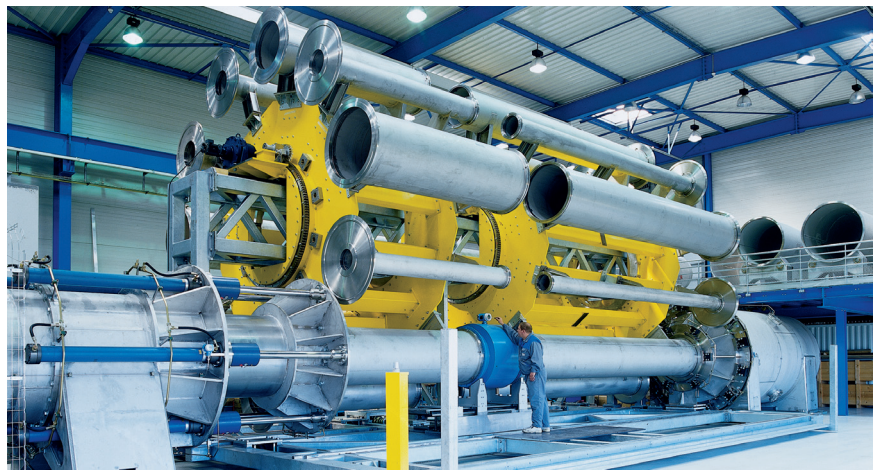

Good service doesn't end with the sale

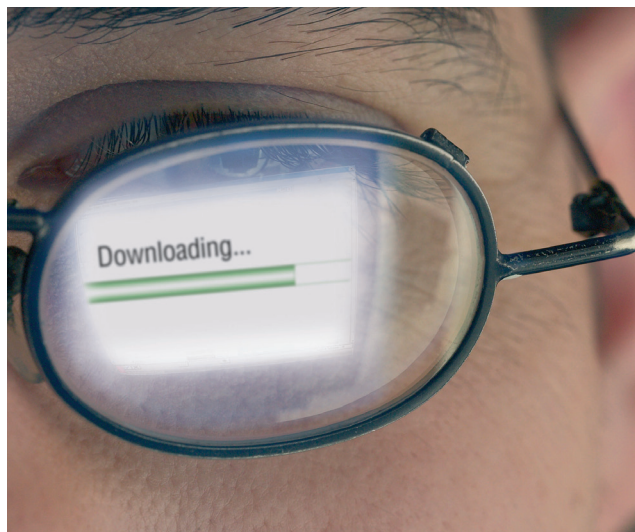

At Endress+Hauser good service doesn't end with the sale. Our network of sales and service engineers covers the whole of the UK, ensuring that wherever you are based, you benefit from our technical expertise and support. We pride ourselves on the quality of our after-sales service, offering comprehensive maintenance contract agreements for discounted spare parts, including workshop repairs and site visits.

We have invested in best in class calibration facilities and offer primary calibration on accredited calibration rigs for all our meters. We offer a variety of tailored training resources at our Manchester facilities or on-site and complete life cycle solutions to help you reduce unscheduled downtime and save you money.

Endress+Hauser's W@M – Life Cycle Management, an open flexible information platform, offers you up-to-date information on all your measuring and control assets including products from other suppliers, supporting you throughout your plant's life cycle.
